ABOUT THE FOUNDER
RAGHAV JAIN

Graduated with Bachelors of Business Administration, Marketing as Honors from North-Eastern Hill University and received an Associate Degree in International Business Management from VNSGU. He has obtained a College Advising Program from Teachers College at Columbia University and is also a Certified Global Career Counsellor from the University of California Los Angeles (UCLA). At heart, Raghav Jain, is an educator with a passion for diversity. He holds a deep conviction that racial, ethnic, socioeconomic, sexual, academic and professional differences should be embraced and believes these very strengths can inspire progress, success, and growth, not only for the individual but also for the world that is affected by those experiences. “Weaknesses should be celebrated as individuality. Troubled experiences should be honoured as lessons.”

NEW ZEALAND

New Zealand is home to around 4.5 million people. Located in the Pacific Ocean, this small island country is famous for its national rugby team, its indigenous Maori culture, and its picturesque landscape.

ABOUT NEW ZEALAND

New Zealand is a welcoming, diverse country with a history of Māori, European, Pacific Island, and Asian immigration. This rich blend of cultures, combined with geologically fascinating landscapes and unique flora and fauna, make New Zealand an exciting country to explore. It is a natural playground for thrill seekers and adventurers and those who simply want to visit for the culture and landscapes

New Zealand's education system is a student-focused pathway providing continuous learning opportunities; Students progress every year, and their learning at one level sets the foundation for the next steps along a chosen pathway.

WHY CHOOSE NEW ZEALAND?

1. The campuses are as picturesque as the landscape
Students who've studied in New Zealand often fail to put into words the beauty of this country. It is bestowed with bountiful natural beauty that extends to all its universities' campuses too. Studying in New Zealand is nothing short of an extended vacation.
2. Excellent quality of programs & courses
All the programs offered by the state-funded universities in New Zealand undergo stringent quality checks. Even the non-university programs need to be approved by the New Zealand Qualifications Authority (NZQA), a New Zealand government organization liable for quality control. In fact, you'll not get a student visa if the course you're planning to pursue in New Zealand isn't approved by a quality assurance body like NZQA.
3. British-based education system
New Zealand is a preferred destination among Indians because their education programs and degrees are based upon the British education system. Being a colony of the British Empire, it follows the tried and tested and globally recognized system of British education which is a little similar to the Indian education system.
4. Internationally Recognized World Class Institutions
New Zealand universities rank among the best in the world. In fact, all the 8 universities rank among the top 3% globally and also rank in QS World University Rankings. Graduating from any one of these universities will give you an edge over the others. The universities enroll fewer students and its excellent student-teacher ratio (an average of 6.7) allows you to have a close interaction with the teachers. The institutions have a well-balanced curriculum with equal weightage on practical and theoretical knowledge.
5. Abundance of job opportunities
According to Chris Whelan, the executive director of Universities New Zealand, after graduation, 97% of the students get employed and 90% of them get into job profiles that are relevant to the course they've pursued.
6. Affordable tuition fee
The average annual tuition fees and cost of living in New Zealand is comparatively cheaper than most popular study abroad destinations like the US, UK, Australia, Singapore, Canada, Hong Kong, Switzerland (2015 research by FAIRFX currency exchange.)
An MBA program in New Zealand is much less compared to those offered by many institutions in the Northern Hemisphere. In fact, international PhD students pay the same fees as domestic students of NZ
